HIGH-Q

Most of the previous list was compiled from Club records by Frank Start, our hard working Secretary-Treasurer. You will notice from this list that some of the founding fathers are still with us, and active on the air. Les Harris, VE3AYZ was in attendance at that inaugural meeting, but under disguise in the call of VE3GB. Brian O'Brien, VE3UA was there and is heard mobiling on occasion. The late Pat O'Shea, VE3FW was with us until just a few years ago, but, of course his call endures as the call of the Lakehead Amateur Radio Club. Others of the original group have left these parts for greener pastures. Joe Sky, VE3HA is in the Toronto area. Cec Partington, ex-VE3WH is now a VE4. Borg Rudman, ex-VE3UE is still here but gave up his call after many years of inactivity. Dr. Quackenbush, ex-VE3CH is Pete Boyle's neighbour. A few died during the War, and others just faded away. But the spirit of the original Wireless Experimenters carries on. If you have been following High-Q for the past little while, you will have read of various Club escapades from the pre-war years, post-war years, up through the Club house fiasco, through Search & Rescue co-operation, up till the present time as we carry on quietly under that almost 50- year-old call VE3FW.

It's been 40 years of continuing technical change and the next 40 will see many more changes, but we hope that the Club will be carrying on as those people with a like interest gather and carry on the traditions as established by that original group on April 17, 1934.

HIGH-Q

High-Q, by the way, has been around for about 15 years as a bulletin, but prior to that, there were merely one page meeting announcements with any extra space occupied by gossip. One of the first such bulletins was put out by Bert Tamblin, VE3ANP just after the War.
